

Wyoming team of the year

WYOMING'S all-conquering Premier League soccer side has vowed to fight on for more honours this season after claiming another major award on Saturday.

After winning the district Premier League title without losing a match and then going through the statewide Champion of Champion competition also unbeaten, Wyoming was a standout winner of the 2007 team of the year at the Central Coast Sports Star of the Year presentation at the Bay Sports Club, Bateau Bay.

Captain Ryan Marshall and coach Greg Preston said the team would back up for another shot at glory in 2008.

Wyoming picked up $1000 as team of the year.

Meanwhile, Point Clare cyclist Grant Fraser won the masters competitor of the year after his outstanding win in the 3km pointscore at last year's world masters championships in Sydney.

Young hockey star Matt Dawson, who also plays cricket, won the encouragement award.
