GAME #5

Vs

MAY 6, 2023 | vs MOUNTAINS | ALAN DAVIDSON OVAL

Home (again) for the first time of this season reboot and up against the new kids on the block, the Mountains, their first game in the BC comp, and fresh from the bye. Other than a familiar face in Colin Atkins, who was in our 2020 squad, we weren't quite sure what to expect, especially from their Number 5 whose player profile pic was that of a screen door. Some steely defence perhaps.

Rob was out again with work commitments; Stingmore's quad issue was back; and Chad was also an omission. With Andy and Dylan still carrying niggling injuries, club legend Chris Large, who has been helping brother - some say sister - team, the 35BS, made his debut. Now for some of us, we have yet to get on the Goal Assists sheet, but for Largey, he had two by half time. The first was a precision long ball to McGarvey who proceeded to slot it away with ease, and the second was a corner kick where Tooley, who seems to like scoring at that end without using his feet, put this one away. It was a header against Ourimbah but we're not sure where the ball hit him this time, or whether it was intentional. Speaking of droughts, Ashton finally put his first away for the season. Mikey D did the fancy work on the right flank before cutting it across to Jamesy who in turn sent it Ashton's way, 3-0!. Nige was next to get an assist. In the keeper role, he was out wide and threw the ball into the path of a Mountains player who, seeing an open goal in the distance, took the shot. Oops, 3-1. Andy, who would've faced the wrath of Julia if he didn't get on the field after she strapped his ankle, was the last to get a run in the first half. His ankle survived but not his pride as Garvs called out towards the end of the half asking if he was playing. Jamesy copped the same spray, must be a pick on your old Lisarow High schoolmates day.

For the second half, Clive decided it was his turn to get on the scoresheet. But someone forgot to tell him we switched direction at half time and that he is not a center forward for Mountains. Yes, a heavy back pass from 35 meters out found its way well past Nige and into the net, another oops. Was a solid strike though. Speaking of solid strikes, poor Brad copped some heavy contact from Colin in a tackle. Some people will do anything to get their name in the Chronicles. There you go, Col!

It was déjà vu for the team with this score line. A fortnight ago, our 3-0 lead over Ourimbah was also squandered to a lead of one. Rather than wait for the last minute this time, Mikey D almost immediately netted the fourth with some solid build-up from Garvs. For the fifth goal, Ashton returned the favour of Jamesy's assist by allowing Jamesy to finish his hard work in front of goals. There was some conjecture whether the ball was wide or not as it hit the back fence. Turns out the nets weren't anchored down enough to withhold the sting of a Jamesy belter. Goal!!

The boys weren't done yet. Dylan and Andy, those two players who were expected to be benchwarmers for this game, combined to give Garvs the run he needed to bookend the scoring for the Tigers. It was the final goal for the boys in yellow, well at the correct end anyway. There could've been a seventh if Ashton had've passed it to Andy in front of an open goal, but I digress. The final goal came from a Mountains free kick, taking a deflection from our wall. That deflection was Wallace who told Boz soon after that the ball was coming for his face … so he moved, the ball clipping his head on the way through. Why 5ft high Wallace was placed on the edge of a wall is anyone's guess. Sure, he has "wall" and "ace" in his surname but that was not apt today my friend, not today. They made a mark of him, and we paid the price… okay, I'll show myself out. Tooley picked up the 3pts today working tirelessly in the middle; late-to-the-party Largey got on the board for his first game with 2; and Bozza picked up the 1. Hold the applause… like everyone else did when announced. On a serious note, our best wishes go out to Paul from the Mountains who suffered heart complications during the first half and went to the Hospital that evening. Hope you're doing okay mate and back on the field soon.
