Numbers were dwindling for this danger game against Kanwal. After 119 consecutive games, Brad "Iron Man" Avery had been ruled out with a knee injury whilst McAndrew's calf was "no good" after too many star jumps from celebrating that corner goal last weekend. Rob's ankle wasn't quite right to return as keeper and with Bech unavailable, Elton kindly agreed to don the gloves again... if someone could give him a lift from Wyong. Paudel was also out, probably to mow his lawn; and McGarvey remained in doubt - especially if that elbow-happy Kanwal player from last year was playing - but offered to sit on the bench. The good news... Mashman was back!! A new look Mashman with a new haircut that was soon earning him the nickname of "Ragnar" plus he had finally embraced social media to join the facebook group, albeit via his son's account. With only 12 confirmed, it was time for Boz and Andy to get on the recruitment drive. Courtesy of Neale's recommendation, his childhood friend and ex-Gosford (Dragons aren't real) grade rival, Tim Cohen signed up on Thursday night and had joined the team sheet by Friday morning. According to Neale, Tim had vowed to never play for Wyoming, erm... welcome to the teammate! Special thanks to Melissa Melvin, Chris Large and Justin Sargent at Wyoming FC for setting this up so quickly. We would also welcome back Mark Wallace for a cameo, cheers buddy.

Apologies but a certain scribe couldn't arrive until till the end of first half, so reports are sketchy. He did arrive in time see a McGarvey penalty being blocked. That would've made it 2-0 as Luca had put us in front courtesy of a McGarvey assist. Luca was off the nudie run after a bit of pinball with a defender. The ball thankfully deflected back his way to get in a second shot. He did apparently also miss an "open goal" attempt. Geoff demonstrated that you should not celebrate scoring a goal before kicking the ball as his open goal chance went begging when he knocked it over the crossbar. Poor Cliff became the latest victim of the Invisible Sniper. Sadly, we lost Ashton early with that niggling calf giving way. Hopefully, he's not gone too long. Due to this, McGarvey made an earlier start than expected, still recovering from his rib injury. Did I mention his missed penalty... oops, yes, I did.

The second half was a perfect start. Andy's appearance was an obvious inspiration as within a minute they were up 2-0. McGarvey kicked off and did his usual weaving run through the opposition. He laid the ball off to Cliff on the right whose shot beat the keeper at the inside post. McGarvey must've cursed the football gods after that penalty miss in the first half as Kanwal's keeper was injured shortly after that save and replaced for the second half. They not only listened to that but when McGarvey had a shot that went directly to the keeper he was too busy cursing himself to realise the replacement keeper had fumbled the ball. It rolled through his legs and over the goal line. 3-0!!! "Very lucky, McGarvey" Boz quipped. With Brad injured, a (c) had been placed against O'Connor's name on the team sheet. Having missed both Kanwal games last year, none of us were sure if OC would play today but if there had been a gentleman's agreement to not play against the Bulls it had been waived today. He did claim that the (c) did not mean Captain - nor Cabbage - but Corner Kick taker. Of course, in the second half he did have a chuckle when the opportunity came but he ended up letting Andy take it. Andy gladly took the chance with McAndrew on the sideline, and it was cabbage!! He did get a cross to McGarvey though who proceeded to slot it into the net only for Andy to be cruelly called offside. No bias here but he was not. It soon became apparent that the young linesperson was easily being swayed by the Kanwal backline's appeals. The fibbers!! They did get one right though when Lawesy had a run upfront and was miles ahead. Several shots were taken. Some were on target, Tim found the keeper, Boz found the defensive wall whilst others were just wide (Stew) or over the back fence (Fitzy, Andy). Julia was not particularly fond off Andy's shot. McGarvey had delivered him a perfect chance and instead it sailed over the cross bar and nearly hit her car.

Kanwal had their chances, but they were met with another strong and gritty defensive effort from the backline that was benefitted greatly by the appearance of Mashman who partnered with Boz in the middle. Mashman was a menace to their attackers and instrumental in ensuring that Elton was not put under too much pressure. The Mash was duly rewarded with MVP. Even Kanwal's attempts to put on a 12th player on the field proved fruitless. Okay, sure it was a small dog wearing a jacket in Kanwal colours that perhaps just ran on the field uninvited, but anyway. All in all, another solid result from the boys and another clean sheet. A fourth goal would've put us on top of the table but as it stands, we sit behind Killarney on equal points and equal goal differential. We take them on next week, bring it on!
